

NATIONAL DAY OF ACTION THURSDAY JANUARY 19, 2017

Donald Trump's campaign, and his actions as president-elect have deeply troubled and concerned many people of good will. Immigrant students, the LGBT community, our partners in the Labor Movement and those fighting for economic justice are worried about the future.

We are angered by the clear indications that Donald Trump and his billionaire nominee for Secretary of Education, Betsy DeVos, plan to dismantle our public schools by putting them on the market.

We stand together—as teachers, as parents, as students and as communities—to say Education Justice is Racial Justice and demand investment, not neglect. We need an end to the School to Prison Pipeline. We need our schools to be safe, and to be safe centers of support and learning.

January 19th is a moment to come together, each in our own communities, on a single day, with a single message to Donald Trump and Betsy DeVos. Let's join together to protect the things we care about and fight for what we want. Resistance is rising!
